

Vietnam War Summit Meeting Postponed Until After January 1

BY R.W. APPLE JR.

SAIGON — The next summit meeting of nations allied in the Vietnam war has been postponed until after Jan. 1, possibly until February or early March, authoritative sources disclosed yesterday.

The meeting had been tentatively scheduled for November or December, either in Seoul, South Korea or Bangkok, Thailand. As a result of the delay, the site is in doubt.

"It suddenly became apparent that nobody really wanted a meeting very badly," one senior United States official said. "These things don't come off unless someone is pressing the point."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who concluded his visit to South Vietnam yesterday, reportedly did not discuss the summit idea with either President Nguyen Van Thieu or Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. But his visit convinced American officials of what they had suspected—that there would be no meeting before 1968.

Following the Guam conference last March, at which President Johnson met with the South Vietnamese leaders, White House sources said the President intended to have a meeting, either with the Vietnamese alone or with all the allies, about every six months. According to that timetable, the next conference was due last month.

The conference was delayed for a number of reasons, but chiefly because it would have been difficult to interrupt the South Vietnamese electoral campaign—which began early in August and ended, in a sense, with Tuesday's inauguration of President Thieu.

For the next month or so the new cabinet members will be taking over their ministries, Thieu will be working out his relationships with the generals and the legislature and decisions on scores of problems will have to be made.

Another decision reached in Vice President Humphrey's visit U.S. officials reported was an agreement between President Thieu and the Vice President to hold private discussions before any bombing pause was announced in connection with Thieu's proposal for direct negotiations with North Vietnam.

WARREN COUNTY
In an open letter to the voters of Warren County, Republican Blain M. Mead, the only incumbent county commissioner to survive the May primary election, broke his silence in the current campaign to assure voters he would still "consider it an honor and privilege to work with David Rice" if the Conewango township veterinarian is elected on Nov. 7.

THE NATION
A congressional conference committee agreed in principle to end the Defense Department's world-wide arms sales program next June 30. And thus ended the deadlock over the foreign aid bill.

President Johnson urged that congress remain in session this year until it had "faced up" to the nation's most compelling problems, especially the need for a tax increase and measures to deal with urban problems.

The Senate Finance Committee revamped the House - approved Social Security bill to bring it up to administration standards. The new standards include an overall 15 per cent increase in benefits under old age, survivors and disability insurance, and a minimum $70 monthly benefit. The House had passed a 12 1/2 per cent increase and a $50 minimum. The present minimum is $44.

The Department of the Army announced the cancellation of next year's national rifle and pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, ostensibly for economy reasons.

THE WORLD
At an impromptu news conference, President Johnson declared that anti-war demonstrators in the United States should "see that they are not contributing to the peace that everyone honestly seeks." He said that Tuesday's Viet Cong mortar attacks on Independence Palace in Saigon "ought to revolt the civilized world."

Former Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson has been sent to Cairo as President Johnson's unofficial envoy to see whether President Gamal Abdel Nasser would agree to peace talks with Israel, starting through a United Nations representative for the Middle East.

Warren County Planner Commended For Presentation

Warren County planning director, Robert Peterson, was commended yesterday for his presentation outlining the county's highway construction priorities.

Peterson, using a detailed brochure for his presentation before the state highway commission, explained the needs for highway construction and improvement in the county during the next six years.

Following the planning director's presentation, Robert G. Bartlett, chairman of the state highway commission, complimented Peterson for what Bartlett termed "a very fine presentation of the Warren County proposal."

Peterson, when asked as to whether or not Warren County had zoning, replied "the county is zoned through the entire Allegheny Reservoir area." "That is wonderful, I commend you for that very fine progressive action," was the reactor of Bartlett. Other members of the commission also voiced opinions concerning the necessity of zoning within recreational areas such as the Kinzua Dam. Members of the commission agreed that through proper zoning recreational areas are guaranteed of retaining the natural scenic beauty to attract tourism and protect the investment of the vast sums of money invested in highways by the state and federal governments.

Bartlett also commended the fine representation from Warren County attending the meeting at the Crawford County courthouse.

Red Troops Determined To Capture U.S. Post

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—Dienhard Communist troops shelled units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division at Loc Ninh today in yet another attack on the sector they have been trying to seize since Sunday.

The Communists followed the mortar shelling with a small-scale ground assault which U.S. officers said was stopped well outside their perimeter defenses.

There was no report of U.S. casualties.

The action broke out in the early morning hours in the same sector 72 miles north of Saigon where two regiments of mixed Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been vainly assaulting U.S. and South Vietnamese positions since early Sunday.

The seeming objective was to seize Loc Ninh, a rubber plantation town nine miles from Cambodia, and score a propaganda victory to counter the inauguration this week of President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

Yesterday, U.S. B52 bombers dropped tons of explosives on suspected enemy base camps near the Cambodian border a few miles below Loc Ninh.

Elsewhere the ground war lapsed into scattered small contacts, and foul weather was cutting into the intensified air raids on North Vietnam's heartland as Thieu's new government settled down to business.

A big National Day parade in Saigon went off smoothly despite fears of a fresh Communist attack on the heels of the mortar shelling of the Independence Palace's grounds Tuesday night. Last year the

Humphrey Hung in Effigy By Leftist Chinese Mob

By MYRON BELKIND
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey flew from war-torn Vietnam to normally tranquil Malaysia Wednesday for a three-day visit that has touched off a flurry of anti-American demonstrations.

Apparently unknown to Humphrey, he was hung in effigy by a mob of leftist Chinese youths in Penang City in the north. Hundreds of demonstrators paraded in Kuala Lumpur in some of the capital's suburbs with banners in Malay, Chinese and English reading: "Humphrey get out."

No arrests were reported, though police had to fire several rounds of tear gas to disperse an unruly, banner-waving group of 70 which demonstrated near Humphrey's motorcade route from the airport.

The demonstrations, however, were on a much smaller scale than the violent protests that left one dead and several injured during President Johnson's 21-hour visit here on his Southeast Asian tour one year ago.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak welcomed Humphrey.

Humphrey flew to Kuala Lumpur in a U.S. Air Force jet. His arrival climaxed a busy day that began in Saigon and included an aerial survey of the demilitarized zone, the border territory which U.S. Marines keep under watch to thwart Communist onslaughts from the North.

"It's not very demilitarized," Humphrey jokingly told Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak as they chatted before a private, black-tie dinner.

Highway Group Hears Warren County's Needs

Warren County Planning Director Robert Peterson yesterday outlined this county's highway construction priorities for the 1973-74 fiscal years to the State Highway Commission.

The priorities were arrived at after extensive consultations between interested and affected groups within the county and are based on the long-range objectives of the planning commission's "General Development Plan for Warren County."

The top three priorities, Peterson noted, are roads that will interconnect U.S. Route 62 with Pa. Route 59 and the New York State West Bank perimeter road and ultimately the Southern Tier Expressway.

Priority 1, the first proposal is for a connector road between RD 59 (LR 208) and LR 61037 (Scandia Road). This road, in addition to the highway system will be three miles long and involves a bridge across the river at Hemlock. The road and bridge together will cost about $2 million and would complete the circumferential route around Allegheny Reservoir and tie in developments on the west bank of the reservoir with the Kinzua Dam complex and facilities on Kinzua Bay and the east bank of the reservoir.

It is estimated that in 1980 this road will be handling 2,000 to 3,000 vehicles daily.

Priority 2 — It is proposed the main "spine" or collector road on the west bank of the reservoir, LR 61037, Scandia road, be constructed from the intersection of LR 61049 to New York State line. This road, 9.5 miles long will cost an estimated $1.5 million. It is expected that several thousand vehicles per day will use this road during the summer months.

Priority 3 — The next road suggested for reconstruction is a connector road between T.R. (LR 94) and LR 61037. This proposal involves a relocation and reconstruction of the Hatch Run Road and an extension to cross Conewango Creek to connect with TR 62. It is estimated this 4.5 mile road will cost about $2 million.

The state highway commission yesterday was also told of the immediate need in the reservoir area because completion of the roads recommended for construction is several years away.

Warren County requested that sufficient maintenance money be allocated to improve existing west bank road LR 61037, Scandia road.

Peterson stated immediately tention should be given this road from the borough line since it will have to serve county needs for quite some time. Pavements are presently breaking up and shoulders eroding away.

The next road priorities presented were concerned with providing the county with quick, safe east-west and north-south routes. Priority 4 — This recommendation should be given this road from the borough line since it will have to serve county needs for quite some time. Pavements are presently breaking up and shoulders eroding away.

Roads
mendation extends Route 6 from the western terminus of the Youngstown bypass west to the intersection of Route 6 to Route 27 at Pittsfield. It is suggested an interchange between 6 and 27 be constructed west of Pittsfield. This road, about 3 miles long, would be a four lane facility with controlled access and cost about $1.5 million.
Priority 5 — This proposal involves a four-lane divided relocation of Route 62 in the western part of the county. The new road will run from Corry to an intersection with LR 61018, will be 4 miles long and cost an estimated $3 million. This section will be another important link in the improved Route 6.
It will bypass the village of Columbus, a rapidly growing suburb of Corry and eliminate an extremely dangerous and high accident railroad underpass.
Priority 6 — This involves the four-laning of LR 61029 or what will soon become U.S. Route 62 between the village of Akeley and the New York State line. The State of New York is currently relocating Route 62 to the west side of Conewango Creek to connect with LR 61029. They are constructing two lanes on a four-lane right-of-way and it is imperative Pennsylvania acquire enough right-of-way as quickly as possible.
Peterson told the commission Pennsylvania acquire enough right-of-way to four lane this highway from the New York state line to the village of Russell where the present project of four laning Route 62 from Warren ends. The total length of the road is about 4 miles.
Priority 7 — This proposal is new and would involve reconstruction and relocation of Route 6 west of Pittsfield. This section, about 7 miles long, would be another important addition in the program of making Route 6 into a modern, high speed, east-west route.
Priority 8 — Reconstruction of the final segment of Route 6 between the LR 61018 intersection and T-551 intersection in the western part of the county. This section will be 5 miles long and is estimated to cost about $5 million.
Priority 9 — Reconstruction of Route 27 between Pittsfield and Garland. The road will be slightly over 3 miles long and will cost over $1 million. It will be the first rebuilt section of Route 27 to connect with Route 8 at Titusville. Peterson said this important road will become the county's best access to the Pittsburgh area.
Priority 10 — This proposal involves a reconstruction of Route 27, LR 89, south from TR 77 to LR 61008. It is 7.7 miles long and would cost $6.8 million.
Priority 11 — This road is a new alignment for Route 27 from Crawford County line north. It is 7.7 miles long and will cost $4.2 million. The proposed alignment is much shorter than the existing route and would connect with the rebuilt Route 8 at Titusville.
Peterson told the commission the priorities directly reflect and are in response to Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir complex. It was also pointed out that much of the privately held land on the reservoir's west bank is susceptible to a variety of development because of the lake, attractiveness of the landscape and flatness of terrain.
The roads suggested yesterday to be programmed for 1973-74, Peterson said, are an integral part of an overall plan and are the logical and necessary roads to be constructed next.
The proposals were endorsed by the county planning commission, Warren County Development Association, Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, Warren County Motor Club, Borough of Warren and Warren Borough Planning Commission.

President is Sending Aide To Cairo to Assess Situation

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson has sent an unofficial envoy to Egypt to see if President Gamal Abdel Nasser will agree to talks with Israel, starting through a United Nations representative for the Middle East.
Informed sources said the envoy, former Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson, was following up recent reports that Cairo was prepared to engage in indirect discussions with the Israelis under the United Nations chairmanship.
Reports from Cairo have not made clear, however, whether these would be indirect talks or direct face-to-face contacts in the presence of a U.N. representative.
The State Department said Anderson was in the United Arab Republic on private business. But diplomatic sources said he was undertaking a delicate and important diplomatic mission for the President.
Anderson, who served as Secretary of the Treasury under President Eisenhower, is a confidant of President Johnson. Several times he has served as an unofficial contact with President Nasser on behalf of the Johnson administration, most recently on the eve of the Arab-Israeli war in June.
Diplomatic sources said he had already conferred with Mahmoud Riad, the Egyptian foreign minister, and was expected to meet privately with President Nasser in the next 48 hours.
The timing of his mission is critical, diplomatic sources said, because of efforts at the U.N. to get talks under way between Israel and Egypt. These efforts have bogged down because of uncertainty over Cairo's willingness to engage in discussions with the Israelis.
In mid-October a member of the British member of parliament, Sir Dingle Foot, returned from Cairo with the report that President Nasser was prepared to start talks with Israel under U.N. chairmanship even before a withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula.
Sir Dingle said that the Egyptian leader suggested that such talks could begin under the 1949 armistice agreements ending the 1948 Palestine war. Israel has taken the position before the U.N. General Assembly that the 1949 armistice agreements have been "corroded and shattered beyond repair" and "cannot now be rebuilt."
One of the principal reasons for the Anderson mission, sources said, is to give the U.S. an opportunity to sound out the Egyptians first-hand and a chance to reopen contacts with President Nasser, cut off since the June war. Cairo broke off diplomatic relations on June 6, preventing normal contacts with the U.S. embassy in Cairo.
In the past the Egyptian leader has set aside normal diplomatic channels in favor of private citizens such as Anderson who are intimate with President Johnson.
Before departing for Cairo earlier this week, Anderson is reported to have conferred with President Johnson. Informants said he carried no special message.

Foreign Aid Deadlock Broken by Conferees

By FELIX BELAIR JR.
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — A congressional conference committee agreed in principle yesterday to end the Defense Department's worldwide arms sales program next June 30.
The informal agreement between Senate and House conferees appeared to break the seven-week deadlock over the $2.7 billion foreign aid authorization bill. But House money bill managers went ahead with plans to bypass the authorization process by bringing the foreign aid appropriation to the House floor ahead of the authorizing vehicle.
The two negotiating teams met unexpectedly today after a House appropriations subcommittee Tuesday adopted amendments restricting Pentagon military sales. The amendments to the money bill by Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., included a provision requiring an "equivalent reduction" in U.S. economic aid to any underdeveloped country using its funds to buy expensive weapons abroad.
The conference was sought by House negotiators. They proposed that in return for acceptance of the June 30 terminal date on arms credit sales the senate would increase its military aid ceiling in the authorization bill from the Senate-passed limit of $475 million to $540 million.
The administration requested an authorization of $596 million for military aid this fiscal year.
In the protracted negotiations over continuance of arms credit sales by the Pentagon, House negotiators had held out for continuance of the present program until June 30, 1969. The Senate bill called for an end of the program Dec. 31. The House measure said nothing about its termination.
The House negotiators' offer yesterday was couched in more affirmative terms. Its main provision was that the President shall have authority until next June 30—the end of this fiscal year—to approve the sale of arms on credit to underdeveloped countries.
If, as some conferees on both sides assume, there will be a complete conference agreement at the meeting scheduled for this afternoon, the effort of House money managers to bypass the authorizing process may be frustrated. But this would not apply to the Conte amendments since they have already been approved by the appropriations subcommittee.

Peace

"We will continue willing to negotiate now, to stop the bombing now," he said, "if they (North Vietnam) will talk promptly, productively and not take advantage of us."
But, with a shrug of his shoulders, he said there had been no favorable response from Hanoi and that, in the absence of such a response, he would "continue struggling for limited objectives—to keep from widening the war, to deter aggression and to permit self-determination."
"There has not been a change of policy," the President said emphatically.

We're Thinking About Changing the Shape of Warren Times-Mirror and Observer Person-to-Person Want Ads

Should they be pointed?

After all, they do point out more products and services.

BUT... Warren Times-Mirror and Observer Person-to-Person Want Ads have been doing very well just the way they are now. Let's leave them alone. After all they are preferred by people who want to buy something, have accommodation for rent, have lost a pet or want to sell a house, a car, sporting goods, or other items of value that are not being used any longer. Can you think of a better shape to be in?

Local Poverty Programs Will Have to Shut Down

By NAN ROBERTSON

WASHINGTON — Thirty-five local poverty programs serving 500,000 poor people will have to shut down within the next three weeks unless Congress agrees to fund them, the federal poverty agency said yesterday.

The office of Economic Opportunity also warned that 38,600 boys and girls training in Job Corps camps would be living on "off the shelf" supplies, such as food, instead of salaries until Congress comes through with money.

Meantime, the 2,800 workers at O.E.O. headquarters here and in the seven regional offices face a payless payday Nov. 14; the staff have been working as volunteers since Oct. 23, when a congressional "continuing resolution" expired and money was cut off.

Asked what the reaction of local poverty boards would be to the mounting uncertainty and confusion in Congress about the future of poverty programs, one high O.E.O. official replied: "I frankly say that some of them are going to say 'the hell with it' and throw in the towel."

Don I. Wortman, associate director for operations for community action programs, spoke of increasingly shaky morale in Washington and in the field, with some employees looking for work elsewhere. Since the poverty agency's authority to spend has ended, at least temporarily, Wortman said local programs would have to be "balled out" by mayors, community chests or sympathetic banks from which they might borrow.

Such loans could not legally be guaranteed by the federal government at this time.

Normally, about 75 local community action agencies out of 1,058 across the nation would come up for refunding during November, but about 40 have some money left to keep going for a while, Wortman said. The 35 that have almost run out of cash would have received a total of $28 million this month from the government.

Many of the programs could close by tomorrow.

William P. Kelly, director of the Job Corps, said his agency already owed $2.75 million to the contractors who run the job corps centers.

If the Neighborhood Youth Corps, 134 projects in which 39,000 young people are engaged are due for renewal by the end of this month, twenty-six were due to have been refunded yesterday.

Up on Capitol Hill, about 35 Southern Democrats, most of them hard-core conservatives, caucused yesterday afternoon on the $2.06 billion house poverty authorization bill. They were briefed on its particulars by Rep. Sam M. Gibbons, D-Fla., a key member of the House Education and Labor Committee, which reported out the bill Oct. 20. It is scheduled to go to the house floor for debate early next week.

Halloween Has Its Tragedies

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Halloween celebrations this year led to rioting, gunfire and death or injury by shooting, stabbing and traffic accident.

In Wingate, N.C., Robert McManus, 14, was fatally injured by the simultaneous explosion of about 60 cherry bombs — a kind of firecracker — which he carried on a trick-or-treat expedition.

A boy of 3 playing with a revolver he found in a closet, shot his mother to death in Hawthorne, Calif., as she sat at a sewing machine making him a Halloween costume. The victim was Melvina Meling, 35. She was the mother of three other children.

An unknown assailant shot Linda E. Halman, 12, daughter of a policeman, in the back as she was making trick-or-treat rounds with two playmates in Jacksonville, Fla. Doctor removed a .38-caliber bullet and said her condition was satisfactory.

In Portsmouth, Va., two trick or treaters fought over a bag of candy and James E. Brown Jr., 14, fell dying with a stab wound.

In Memphis, Tenn., a Halloween masquerade party at a hotel broke up in violence, with James Franklin, 18, shot and Roy Farnell, 16, stabbed. Both were expected to recover.

Police called to a rowdy Halloween party in a cemetery in a Negro district of New York were greeted with rocks. Tombstones were pushed over, a number of patrol cars damaged and one policeman injured before 100 patrolmen were able to break it up.

More than 75 policemen were sent to a Negro neighborhood in Belle Glade, Fla., when a crowd of about 1,000 youths threw rocks at passing cars. The only reported casualty was Police Chief Charles D. Goodiet, who suffered a shoulder bruise.

Another Halloween traffic victim was Steven Haag, 8, in Sykesville, Pa.

Gibbons reported after yesterday's meeting that there was little chance that the group would accept the bill under any circumstances.

The legislation will undoubtedly run into a bitter battle on the House floor. One member of yesterday's southern caucus, Rep. Walter B. Jones, D-N.C., predicted the anti-poverty bill would be "torn apart" next week in debate.

Any bill passed by the House would then face an even stiffer fight in joining House-Senate conference committee sessions. Early last month, the Senate passed a strong anti-poverty bill, authorizing $2.25 billion in funds for O.E.O.

Vote For Open Recruiting

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The student body of Columbia College and the School of Engineering has voted overwhelmingly in favor of open recruiting by any organization.

As an outgrowth of protests at such schools as Brooklyn College, the University of Wisconsin, Oberlin, Harvard and Fordham 2,175 Columbia men were asked how they felt about unrestricted recruiting on campus.

Of these, 1,473 students, 67.6 per cent, said they did not object to interviewing of seniors by any government or private employer.

"Although many students feel that the war in Vietnam is wrong people do not feel that suppression of certain types of speech is a suitable means of protest," said Eden Weinmann, president of the sophomore class, in commenting on the results of the four-day referendum sponsored by the officers of the sophomore, junior and senior classes.

Only 312 students voted to end all nonacademic recruiting. A third choice on the referendum asking students to list the organizations that they would like to have barred from recruiting drew 390 votes and a variety of institutions.

The action at Columbia comes in the wake of student strikes and protests at many of the nation's schools directed at recruitment policies.

SPANIEL MOTHERS RABBITS

If these four offspring of this Japanese spaniel look like rabbits — it's because they are — rabbits that is. No — "Miako," the spaniel owned by Mrs. Dorothy Maas of Selkirk, N.Y., didn't have rabbits. She merely adopted them.

Concerned about the fate of the four abandoned rabbits, Miako, decided to become their mother. The two week old bunnies are reported in good condition since she took command.

Senate Unit Revamps House Approved Social Security Bill

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The House-approved Social Security bill was revamped by the Senate Finance Committee yesterday to provide more liberal benefit increases and a stiffer Social Security tax rise.

The committee, striving to complete work on the measure this week, agreed on an across-the-board increase of 15 per cent in benefits for the 23 million persons eligible for old age, survivors and disability insurance payments. It also voted to raise the minimum monthly benefit from $44 to $70.

To help finance the additional costs of these and other amendments to the House bill, the committee approved an effective date of next Jan. 1 for the first in a series of increases in Social Security tax rates. This is a year earlier than the house had provided.

Liberalization of the benefit provisions, which brought them up to the administration's original recommendations, was praised as "a tremendous victory for President Johnson's program" by Wilbur J. Cohen, under secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Cohen, who attended the committee's closed sessions on the bill, told reporters afterwards that the 15 per cent general increase, coupled with the $70 monthly minimum, would provide an overall average rise of about 20 per cent in 1968 payments.

As passed by the House on Aug. 17, the bill called for an across-the-board benefit rise of 12½ per cent and a minimum monthly benefit of $50.

Under the Senate committee's version, the benefit increases would take effect next March 1.

The chairman of the Finance Committee, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., announced the following additional decisions by the committee:

—To permit men to start drawing old age benefits at the age of 60, it reduced rates, as women may now do. The minimum age for men is now 62.

—To raise special benefits for persons 72 years of age or older who cannot qualify for regular benefits because of insufficient coverage while they were working. The new monthly benefit would be $50, compared with $35 under present law and $40 under the House bill.

—To provide full widows' benefits for disabled widows, regardless of age. The full benefit is 82½ per cent of what the husband would have been entitled to draw. The House bill called for benefits at 50 per cent of the husband's entitlement, starting at the age of 50.

Long said the committee had also agreed tentatively to raise the taxable base—the amount of annual earnings subject to the payroll levy—on the same date.

He said the new base would be at least as high as the $7,600 figure set by the House, also for next Jan. 1. The present base is $6,600.

President Johnson Repeats His Plea For Tax Increase

By MAX FRANKEL

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson urged Congress yesterday to remain in session this year until it had "faced up" to the nation's most compelling problems, especially the need for a tax increase.

Johnson set no time limit and said there was no White House list of priority or "must" measures.

He gave special emphasis, however, to the need for ending "uncertainty" about the economy and to dealing with the problems of city life.

Nonetheless, the indications on Capitol Hill were that the administration lacked the strength to force action on the proposed 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes.

Johnson, speaking at a long news conference in the cabinet room, dealt almost exclusively with his problems in the Congress and in Vietnam, defending his approach to each situation and finding cause for satisfaction despite many difficulties.

The President said he was "greatly distressed" by the reduction of funds for the new rehabilitation program for selected slum neighborhoods "the so-called model cities program" from a request for $622 million to $312 million, but this was a beginning, he added.

He very much regretted, he went on, the cuts in his rent supplements program from $40 million to $10 million. But this was at least "better than nothing," he remarked.

Such actions, he asserted, were "not the way to get at the problems" of city life, and they were making this a less productive session of Congress than he would have liked. His final record of legislative achievements in 1967 will not be as good as in the past two years, he predicted, but compared to most other sessions in recent decades it "will stand reasonably well."

Johnson refused to predict the fate of his tax proposal, but neither would he concede defeat or even delay until Congress returns in January.

"All I can say is what we feel very strongly," he declared. He would simply continue to do all he can to persuade Congress of the need for urgent action, he said, to avoid inflation, to keep down the interest rates that "are galloping every day" and to "maintain a semblance of paying part of our bills as we go along."

The economy could not only stand a tax increase but "requires" it, Johnson remarked.

The President recalled the argument of opponents of a tax increase that the economy could not take it and the support that he then marshalled from prominent economists, businessmen and labor leaders. He recalled the plea that appropriations be cut first and his suggestion that Congress "just call the roll" and cut as it passed the money bills.

It now looks as if there will be cuts of between $4 billion and $5 billion, he said, and he will approve them, though some were of "doubtful wisdom." He was further prepared to cooperate with Congress in joint studies of programs and priorities and to do any other reasonable thing.

Walter Reuther Burns Bridges With AFL-CIO

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Auto workers president Walter Reuther is burning his financial and political bridges with the AFL-CIO in what many sources view as final steps toward walking his union out of the nation's House of Labor.

The AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department, financed largely by United Auto Workers' money, is rapidly spending itself broke. And Reuther's union has also quit giving money to the labor federation's political arm, the Committee on Political Education, sources said.

The money involved is substantial, labor sources said, and strongly indicates Reuther will climax his long fight against AFL-CIO President George Meany by pulling his 1½ million auto workers out of the 14-million member federation next month.

Jack Conway, executive director of the Industrial Union Department, confirmed that more than $1 million has been spent out of long-time cash reserves, but disputes that it portends an auto workers' walkout.

Reuther's last remaining office in the AFL-CIO is as president of the Industrial Union Department. He quit last February as an AFL-CIO vice president and other posts with a blast of criticism against Meany's leadership.

Many labor leaders expect Reuther to make the final break at the AFL-CIO convention in Miami Beach in December.

Highway Progress Seen

A year ago in Franklin, Warren County Planning Director Robert Peterson stood before the State Highway Commission to outline highway priorities for Warren County. While most of these proposals are based on a projected six-year plan and are not expected to materialize over night, the county now sees the Route 6 Youngsville by-pass under construction and the Warren by-pass off the preliminary drawing boards and ready for the next big move. This program is greatly due to the earnest pressures of a number of individuals and organizations who thoroughly studied the traffic problems and did something about it. It is also due to the interest the highway department has shown in the Kinzua Country area and their desire to do something about it also. Yesterday in Meadville, Peterson again outlined highway priorities for Warren County for 1973-74 and it proved to be an excellent and real-

MASON DENISON

Shafer Doesn't Follow Line

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania governors over the years generally have shied away from committing themselves on what they might do when pending major legislation reaches their desk.

By the same token most chief executives in the past have felt it incumbent upon them to refrain from becoming involved in controversial issues developing within legislative chambers, on which there was no previous gubernatorial commitment.

Generally this has been regarded as the most politically expedient route for any chief executive to assume—he be Democrat or Republican.

Pennsylvania's current Governor Raymond Philip Shafer, as events begin to point up, doesn't necessarily follow this line of thought—a facet which well may become one of the trademarks of his tenure.

Within the space of the past fortnight, for example, three prime issues have popped up which illustrate the point. There have been others of less contemporary note.

On the more timely front, he was asked the other day: "If the General Assembly enacts a one percent income tax, would you sign it?"

Now, few items are more controversial, more touchy, more politically explosive and usually more desirous of skittering around from a gubernatorial commitment standpoint than what a Governor might do on a tax issue he himself has not recommended as a tight part and parcel of his own tax program.

Mr. Shafer neglected to skitter however, and in reply to the question of whether he would sign a one percent income tax, stated flatly:

"That's right."

Of course, Mr. Shafer all along has shown a penchant for the income tax, having proposed earlier that a "stand-by" one percent income tax be enacted to become effective when appropriations reach the $1.9 billion mark (this in addition to the near $300 million tax increase he has already proposed which does not include an income tax).

The second illustration concerns state aid to non-public schools (private and parochial schools) which in recent sessions of Pennsylvania's Legislature has become a perennially controversial question of no small magnitude.

Asked where he stood on this issue, which has simmered and seethed in the current session and threatens to boil to the front when lawmakers return November 13 from their current recess, Mr. Shafer replied:

"I am in favor of state aid to non-public school students with-istic presentation, concerned with the proper and full development of our most significant resource -- the Allegheny Reservoir.

It is expected the reservoir will attract, by 1990, over five million visitors annually.

Since the present priorities were arrived at after extensive consultations between interested and affected groups within the county, it should be expected the highway commission and the highway department will look as favorably on these long-range objectives as they have on past proposals.

We've already learned, however, that other areas are just as persistent in seeking highways for their areas, so we must consistently continue to let our voices be heard.

Between a strong Warren County and an aware Highway Department, the area will be ready for what it knows will come.

for which the colleges lack space.

This is quite different from the function of the driving test. Detroit, after all, has four wheels for every person willing to take his chances with a finance company, and plenty more to boot. Economics, therefore, dictates that everyone capable of getting the key into the ignition be subjected to a test that will assure him the right to do so.

In logical terms, it is senseless. The man admitted to college is merely licensed to let a bit of light into his brain, but the man licensed to drive is empowered to operate a large, fast and deadly piece of machinery among chickens and small children. The first requires a knowledge of Cicero and quadratic equations; the second requires only the cunning to get around the block without loosening a policeman's molar.

Obviously, America has reached a sociological decision of some importance; to wit, that everyone should be entitled to drive but not to attend college. The relative difficulty of college entrance examinations and the ease of the usual driving test merely reflect society's genius for inventing tests that will enforce even the most irrational policy decisions.

Life is filled with exclusion processes like the college entrance exam, and Americans, with their talent for social improvisation, have developed a matching series of inclusion processes, like the driving test, to keep the excluded content. Thus, the person excluded from college cannot conclude that the country is turning its back on him. Not as long as it lets him pile into his heap and drive in Tijuana and back.

It would be mistaken to blame old bugaboo society for the exclusion process. It is people who seem to like it. People seem to enjoy things more when they know a lot of other people have been left out on the pleasure.

There is, for example, the highly rigorous exclusion process of the Broadway hit. The test requires proof of ability to produce tickets on demand for the musical smash of the season. Failure to pass this one has crushed a million egos and cost more than one public relations man his job. How many people who saw Barbara Streisand in "Funny Girl" enjoyed the show as much as telling (the compensating inclusion process in entertainment, incidentally, is television. Note exclusive peoples' fondness for pronouncing it worthless.)

One of the more irritating exclusion processes is the source-of-income test which the government gives to exclude certain people from taxes. Those who can pass the test by collecting their income from interest on municipal bonds, oil wells and such are excluded from the burden of helping to finance the government. The opposing inclusion process in this case is the Social Security benefit, which may be collected by any taxpayers who do not prematurely succumb to middle-aged bankruptcy.

Socially, the exclusion process is applied even in the criminal world. The test here is whether the rascal knows his constitutional rights. Those who can pass it are awarded lawyers and bail. Those who can't are included in jail.

Nowadays an interesting development is occurring. Certain groups that have traditionally been victimized by various exclusion processes are creating new exclusion processes of their own. These are designed to exclude the very people who, until just recently, have been doing the excluding. Everybody, they are discovering, can enjoy that elite sensation by making an exclusive virtue of his previous exclusion.

Thus we have the youth cult with its fearful over-30 test automatically excluding half the population from the delightful sensation of moral rectitude. And the black racists, who reason with Cassius Clay that "black is best," feeling exclusive in the midst of the millions who cannot pass their pigmentation test.

Both of these groups which benefit from the new exclusion processes are displeased with society and want to rebuild it.

WASHINGTON — Opening hearings yesterday into the causes of riots, a Senate subcommittee heard testimony that two "black power" advocates under indictment in the fatal shooting of a policeman were deliberately inducted into a Houston anti-poverty program.

The permanent subcommittee on investigations headed by John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has been under instruction since last August to conduct the main congressional investigation into the civil disorders that have occurred in American cities in recent years.

It chose to turn its spotlight said, the subcommittee would go into "the immediate causes that sparked the disorders" — a development of the theory that some of the rioting was planned and started by subversive groups that advocate violence as a means of achieving revolution.

The subcommittee seemed evenly divided between those who would stress the conspiratorial theory and those who would put the blame on socio-economic causes.

Sen. Frank J. Davis, R-N.Y., warned against "slandering of important government agencies" and expressed hope the hearings would not turn into a "witch hunt."

Considers New Life Insurance Regulations

Yesterday's testimony, however, did not turn out altogether badly for the Office of Economic Opportunity, the anti-poverty agency headed by Sargent Shriver.

Samuel L. Price, deputy director of the Harris County Community Action Association, a Houston organization funded by C.F.C., testified that under

After he receives industry reaction, Maxwell will make any changes he deems fit and then will issue final regulations, hopefully by the first of the year, his office reported.

The idea, he said, was to channel them into "constructive activities" but two were placed on the payroll were indicted in the shooting of a policeman during a May 16 riot on the campus of a predominantly Negro college.

At the end of the summer, when their presence on the federal payroll had created a local controversy, Price said, the two and 14 other "hard core" militants were fired under pressure from Washington.

Price, a Negro, said it had been "a gamble" having them on the staff, that the militants in the agency at one time had taken control and were spreading "black power propaganda," but that they had been brought under control and they helped to keep down violence in the city during the summer.

"They were branded as bad apples and kicked back out into society," Price said regretfully. "The pressure came from Washington to get rid of them."

In a long opening statement, McClellan said the subcommittee could go into every aspect of the causes of riots. He incorporated into the record hearings held earlier by two Senate committees; into the causes of distress in the slums a fixed dollar amount and generally provides that the policyholder shall participate in the earnings resulting from either the participating policies or the non-participating policies sold by the companies or perhaps both."

HARRISBURG (AP) — General fund tax collections through the first four months of the fiscal year amounted to $345,515,000, or 1.6 per cent above the estimate of $340,100,000, the Office of Administration reported yesterday.

Collections for the months of October totaled $102,242,000, $7,812,000 above the estimate, the monthly report showed.

Primary excesses for the fiscal year were recorded in the cigarette, corporate net income inheritance, liquor and selective business taxes, according to the report.

Cigarette tax collections for the four months beginning July 1 totaled $37,193,000, $2,443,000 more than anticipated.

The report pointed out, however, that the estimate did not reflect the nickle increase in the 8-cent cigarette tax signed into law by Gov. Shafer two weeks ago.

CNI collections came in at $29,635,000, $1,865,000 above the estimate while inheritance liquor and selective business taxes brought in excesses of $1,764,000, $529,000 and $338,000.

The 5 per cent sales tax, the largest single collector, reported below the estimate--$176,788,000 collected, as opposed to $178,900,000 expected.

Malt beverage taxes brought in $7,675,009, as compared with an estimate of $8,120,000.

The letter said such policies often lead a prospective buyer to think he will receive a special advantage in future earnings distributions.

Demands Rise For British Secretary's Dismissal

BY ARTHUR L. GAYSHON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Rising demands for George Brown's dismissal faced Britain's foreign secretary yesterday with perhaps the gravest crisis of his political career.

But a highly placed source said Brown has full government backing for his criticism of press magnate Lord Thomson.

It appeared that Brown, for a while at least, would continue in his post.

Calls for Brown's ouster grew after he lashed out at the Canadian-born Thomson for allowing his British newspapers to publicize the exploits of Kim Philby, a double agent who worked 30 years for Soviet intelligence even while masquerading as a British spy.

The spectacular incident at a banquet attended by 70 American businessmen and scores of reporters Tuesday night was only the latest in a long series involving 53-year-old Brown. Some have been publicized. Others have been kept dark.

What stirred up the new row was his remark that he thought Thomson and his newspapers were overdoing it.

"It's about time we stopped giving the Russians half a start on what we are doing. It is about time you shut up," Thomson was the host of the banquet.

Later, Brown got into a 10-minute hassle with reporters and this elicited his charge that the British press is "the most prostituted press in the world."

The man President Johnson has called his "old and dear friend" so far has survived them all. And the very fact that Brown enjoys the President's confidence could help him—for a while—ride the new storm.

Thus far, Prime Minister Harold Wilson has displayed no inclination to bow before the cries of Conservative politicians and newspapers for him to fire Brown, who also is deputy prime minister.

Some of Brown's aides said he had been provoked by Thomson's dinner table talk and by Thomson's public joke about a George Brown who had been advised to quit drinking.

Whatever the truth there is little doubt about two things: He considers himself in a state of political warfare with influential sections of Britain's mainly Conservative press.

—He is just about the most trouble-prone man in British politics.

His contest with newsmen dates back to an incident in New York during September when he attended a party aboard the Queen Mary. Pictures showing him dancing the tango with a buxom lady were emblazoned across the front pages of British newspapers.

A sharp message from Wilson's office completed his discomfiture. Early in October he hassled again with news photographers trying to take his pictures at a dance of Labor party workers in Scarborough, England.

Officials who work for him insist he is kind, courteous, considerate.

Colleagues in the Cabinet testify that he works furiously, with enthusiasm, often brilliantly.

Brown was calm even as the storm about his future raged around him.

A day packed with public and private engagements—with King Hussein of Jordan, President Cevdet Sunay of Turkey and with Wilson among others—showed him to be in good humor. Through aides he made clear he has no thought of quitting.

Officially the opposition Conservative party was paying no attention to the banquet affair clearly reckoning this was a private problem for Wilson to settle.

But unofficially one leading opposition lawmaker, ex-cabinet minister Duncan Sandys, a Conservative, stepped into the row with a statement asking: "How much longer have we got to put up with George Brown?"

The authoritative word is that for the next few months at least, Brown will go on as Britain's foreign secretary.

Says Senate Not Likely To Act Now on Campaign Financing

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long conceded yesterday the Senate is not likely to act this session on a bill for federal financing of the presidential and senatorial campaigns.

But Long, a Louisiana Democrat and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which approved the measure, said he expects to bring it up early next year and push for passage in time for the 1968 campaign.

In a formal report on the measure, Long said the system of tax credits up to $50 for private donations and proposed treasury payments of $14 million to each major party for presidential campaigns "holds the promise of doing more to democratize our democratic government than anything else that has ever been done before."

Six Republican members of the committee attacked the bill Tuesday as a "poverty program for politicians."

The group, including Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, said the measure could amass "an incredible $327 million" for campaigns for federal office if House members were included.

Both of the accused robbers—Clifton O. Daniels, 29, and Henry M. Gargano, 35—were paroled earlier this year from what the federal government considers the most secure of its maximum security institutions—the penitentiary at Marion, Ill. Both had been sentenced for bank robbery.

Dunbar added, however, "that there is a real need for research—not ivory tower research—but with competent people in the field, to try and develop more precise tools for approximating what's wrong with the person and what should be done."

Assails Parole Systems

By STEPHEN M. AUG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, reacting to the killing of two policemen during an Illinois bank robbery, assailed again yesterday what he called administration of the nation's parole systems.

Hoover also called for legislation on the federal, state and local levels to tighten parole administration and added: "The bleeding hearts of the country have had their say too long."

The 72-year-old director made his unscheduled remarks at graduation ceremonies for the 99 members of the FBI National Academy, a 12-week school for law enforcement officers.

Hoover took advantage of a pause in the ceremonies to recall that two men arrested Tuesday night at La Porte, Ind., and charged with the $83,783 holdup of a Northlake, Ill., bank in which two policemen were killed both had been paroled from a federal prison.

"It again shows that maladministration of the parole systems of this country. As I have many times stated, I believe in parole, but I do not believe in the sloppy method in which it is administered at both the federal and local levels," Hoover said.

Walter Dunbar, chairman of the federal Board of Parole, termed the robbery and shooting a tragic situation. Dunbar said in a telephone interview that "it's not anticipated or expected that there won't be any mistakes made" in deciding whether to grant paroles.

Dunbar added, however, "that there is a real need for research—not ivory tower research—but with competent people in the field, to try and develop more precise tools for approximating what's wrong with the person and what should be done."

Both of the accused robbers—Clifton O. Daniels, 29, and Henry M. Gargano, 35—were paroled earlier this year from what the federal government considers the most secure of its maximum security institutions—the penitentiary at Marion, Ill. Both had been sentenced for bank robbery.

Hertz to Buy 100,000 New Cars and Trucks

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The Hertz Corporation announced yesterday that it plans to purchase 100,000 new 1968 cars and trucks valued at approximately $375 million.

The car-renting and leasing concern said it believed that the order would be the largest the automobile manufacturers will receive for the 1968 model year and the largest ever planned by any business organization.

Last year Hertz announced its intention to buy 90,000 vehicles valued at $314 million.

Although Hertz would not disclose the number of cars it would buy from each car manufacturer, industry sources estimated that over half of the new vehicles would be Ford Motor Company products.

It is estimated that of the vehicles to be acquired by Hertz, about 81 per cent will be purchased for its worldwide operations, while the remainder will be bought by Hertz licensees in this country and abroad.

The company and its licensees now operate about 132,000 vehicles in renting and leasing service through more than 2,800 locations in over 1,700 cities in the United States and overseas. Hertz is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America.

Clark Sounds Out Future

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., here yesterday to take what he described as political soundings to determine whether he will seek another six-year term in the U.S. Senate in 1968.

Clark was a luncheon guest of persons he said were "friends in the labor field, particularly in the International Ladies Garment Workers Union." He did not identify them further.

At a news conference following the luncheon, Clark said he will announce whether he will seek re-election probably within the next several weeks.

He said his decision will be influenced by the outcome of local elections, the results of political polls and support from the labor movement.

Area Bell Customers To Save $$$

Bell Telephone customers in the Youngsville exchange will save more than $6,450 a year under service improvements proposed by the company yesterday.

The improvements would extend the base rate area, establish zone rates in outlying sections and limit each party line to four customers. Bell, in a tariff filed with the Public Utility Commission, asked that the changes be effective December 28.

Bob Dilks, local manager for Bell, outlined these proposed improvements:

The Youngsville base rate area would be extended to include the locality rate area at Irvine; the community of Pittsfield, and territory along Routes 6 and 27. These changes would provide savings of $3,448 annually for the 230 customers affected.

Establishing zone rates in outlying sections would reduce charges $3,005 annually for 102 customers. Limiting each party to four parties would benefit 406 others.

The changes are part of the company's three-and-a-half year supplemental program of service improvements.

PB&T Joins Other Banks In Sponsoring TV Series

TITUSVILLE — The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co. will join the other Full Service banks of the nation in sponsoring the one-hour Andy Williams color television special Monday, Nov. 6, Ben McEntee, bank president, has announced.

For the first time this year, the Foundation for Commercial Banks, of which PB&T is a member, will sponsor a series of these network television specials. The Andy Williams show is the first of a series to be sponsored by the foundation.

After five years with a successful weekly television show, Williams has chosen to do only three special programs this season. The foundation will sponsor the first of these shows which will feature, among other guests stars, Andy's wife, Claudine Longet.

The other shows to be sponsored by Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co. and Full Service bank members of the foundation are the second annual broadcast of "Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas" during the holiday season and the Fred Astaire show in February.

AZTECS OPEN LEAD OVER WAYNESBURG

Three New Small College Teams Gain Poll Status

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three new teams, New Mexico Highlands, Southwest Texas State and Northern Michigan, forged into the Top Ten in the Associated Press' small-college football poll yesterday. The voting, though, is still dominated by San Diego State, Waynesburg and North Dakota State.

New Mexico Highlands, 8-0, took over seventh place after defeating Colorado Western 41-14 last Saturday. SW Texas State, a 59-0 victory over McMurry, moved into the No. 8 spot, and Northern Michigan, 24-03 winner over St. Norbert, slipped into 10th place.

The new trio replaced Wittenberg, Northern Arizona and Parsons in the rankings. The latter three clubs were beaten last weekend. Wittenberg by Ohio Wesleyan, Northern Arizona by Montana, and Parsons by Idaho.

San Diego State increased its first-place lead over Waynesburg in the balloting by a national panel of 117 sports writers and broadcasters.

The Aztecs collected seven votes for the top position and 152 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. Waynesburg drew five votes for first place and 133 points. San Diego State topped the Yellow Jackets by only 10 points last week.

Small Top Ten

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. San Diego St. (7) 7-0 152
2. Waynesburg (5) 7-0 133
3. North Dakota St. (1) 8-0 116
4. Eastern Kentucky 5-1-1 54
5. Texas-Arlington 6-1 48
6. Lamar Tech 6-1 46
7. N. Mex. Highlands 6-0 39
8. SW Texas St. (2) 6-0 33
9. SW Louisiana 5-1 28
10. N. Michigan (1) 7-0 25

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Adams State, Akron, Arkansas State, Central Michigan, Chattanooga, Clarion, Colorado State College, Eastern Washington, Grambling, Hofstra, Howard Payne, Illinois State, Kearney State, Lenoir Rhyne (1), Linfield, Montana, Montana State, Morgan State, Northeast Louisiana, Northern Arizona, Northern Illinois, Parsons, Santa Clara, Southern Illinois, Southwest Louisiana State, Tennessee State, Texas A&I, Troy, Ala., State, U. Tennessee at Martin, West Chester, Western Kentucky, Westminster, Pa., Wittenberg.

North Dakota State remained a strong third with 116 points, including 10 for a single first-place vote.

San Diego State beat Fresno State 28-21, Waynesburg blanked West Virginia Wesleyan 42-0 and North Dakota State shut out South Dakota 34-0 last weekend.

The top two teams each has a 7-0 record while North Dakota State is 8-0.

Eastern Kentucky advanced two places to fourth after defeating Murray 28-7. The University of Texas at Arlington, a 37-27 loser to West Texas State, slipped one notch to fifth. Lamar Tech zoomed three positions to sixth after downing Arkansas State 28-23.

Daniels 1st In AFL to Rush 5,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A 94-yard performance against San Diego last Sunday gave Oakland's Clem Daniels a career rushing total of 5,008, making him the first man in the American Football League to reach the 5,000-mark.

But, AFL statistics show today, Daniels, with 432, is still far behind defending rushing champion Jim Nance of Boston for the season.

Nance leads the rushers with 714 yards while Mike Garrett of Kansas City is third with 479. Houston's Royle Granger, with 425, slipped from second to fourth.

Len Dawson of Kansas City continues as the leading passer, but San Diego's Lance Alworth has replaced Hewitt Dixon of Oakland as the top pass receiver. Alworth, last year's titlist, caught 10 passes against Oakland and has 41 for the season.

Dixon is tied with Don Maynard of New York for second, each with 38.

Another Jet, Emerson Boozer, maintained his huge scoring lead, scoring his 13th touchdown for a total of 73 points. Teammate Jim Turner is a distant second with 56 points.

Miller Farr and Jim Norton, both of Houston, share the pass interception lead with six steals each while Denver's Bob Scarpiotto is the top punter with a 47.7 average.

Tim Montgomery Doesn't Miss Running Days Now

By IRA MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Tim Montgomery, a ring-leader of Penn State's stubborn pass defense, could have been a great running back, according to Coach Joe Paterno.

In fact, Paterno once tried to make Montgomery a quarterback.

But a knee injury wrecked the plans and now Montgomery has four interceptions of Penn State's 15 in six games.

"He had good speed and good moves," Paterno says. "He had good speed and good moves."

was 100 per cent," Paterno said. "We felt he wouldn't have as much pressure on it on defense instead of running with the ball."

Says Montgomery: "I couldn't make the cuts that I used to make before I was hurt. And I'm so small (180 pounds) that that's what I depended on because I wasn't going to run over anybody."

Paterno particularly praised Montgomery's play in Penn State's 29-20 victory over Syracuse last week, including his clutch end zone interception in the fourth quarter.

Tim Montgomery
PSU Defensive Ace

Montgomery was a starting halfback in 1964 but after being injured in the second game against UCLA, he missed the rest of the year.

The following spring Paterno wanted to make him a quarterback but it was decided he needed surgery and Montgomery sat out the spring and fall.

When he came back last year he was moved to defense.

"I used to miss running with the ball," Montgomery says. "But I haven't really given it much thought this year."

Montgomery isn't the first player who has switched positions and been successful. But his move was occasioned by adversity more than by need.

"Even after sitting out a year we weren't convinced the knee sophomore starters, disagrees with Paterno in one respect.

"The sophomores are pretty good. They don't need any leading at all," he says. "They know what to do."

But Montgomery, playing on a defensive unit loaded with seven

'Bonus' Pick For Contest Mistake

Due to an error on this week's TMO Football Contest, all entrants will receive one correct "bonus" pick when the final results are tabulated.

Ohio State plays Michigan on Saturday, and not Michigan as indicated by the entry blank. Michigan meets Northwestern. In order that some readers are not penalized for our error, the game will be marked right on all entries.

NEW YORK (AP) — Football plows into the November stretch this week with teams and forecasters alike getting a bit winded. With a whiff of oxygen to revive us and a good belt of sarsaparilla to embolden us, we're off on another flyer.

Last week: 43-17, .716. Season: 312-108, .742.

Southern California 28, California 14; So the Trojans lose O.J. Simpson, 11's like losing Man of War and having Citation and Whirlaway in the wings.

Tennessee 32, Tampa 0; Orange shirts might look nice in the Orange Bowl.

No NFL Individual Champs Lead Tables

NEW YORK (AP) — The halfway point in the National Football League race finds none of the 1966 champions at the top of the 1967 individual tables.

Chicago's Gale Sayers, the 1966 rushing champion, is down in 13th place among the current statistical leaders with Cleveland's Leroy Kelly showing the way with 584 yards.

Bart Starr of Green Bay was the leading passer last season but the current pacesetter is Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, Starr is No. 18.

Charley Taylor of Washington, the 1966 top pass receiver, is currently out of action due to injuries but is only one behind the leader, Willie Richardson of Baltimore, who has 36.

Bruce Gossett, the Los Angeles Rams' place kicker and defending scoring champion, is running fourth in a department led by Jim Bakken of St. Louis with 81 points.

Baltimore's Dave Lee, the top punter of last season, is No. 11 while Pat Studstill of Detroit is out front with a 45.4-yard average.

Stone Heads Crowd in Total Stats

NEW YORK (AP) — Six backs, headed by Terry Stone of New Mexico, are bunched within 94 yards in total offense among major college football players, NCAA statistics revealed yesterday.

Stone has passed and ran for 1,416 yards but is followed closely by Mike Phipps of Purdue, Jimmy Poole of Davidson, Roy Winters of West Texas State, Sal Olivias of New Mexico State and Paul Toscano of Wyoming.

Only once before in the 31 years that national records have been kept has the total offense race been so close.

Stone also leads in passing while O. J. Simpson maintained his rushing lead with 1,050 yards.

Sayers was the kickoff return champ a year ago but rookie John Love of Washington is just ahead of him this year. Johnny Roland of St. Louis, top punt return man in 1966, has given way to Rickie Harris of Washington.

Larry Wilson of St. Louis led the interception department with 10 thefts in 1966. Currently, rookie Lem Barney of Detroit and the veteran Dave Whitsett of New Orleans are tied with six each.

Smith New Booster President

John J. Smith of 5 Hill Street was named president of the Warren Sports Boosters for 1967-68 last night, succeeding Murray McComas at the post.

Smith and four other club members were also elected to the board of directors at the regular monthly meeting held at the night school.

In addition to Smith, Jim Gibson, Ray Marti, Howard O'Neil and Harold Tundel were elected to serve two-year terms on the board. Shirl Glass was retained as the club's treasurer for another year and Dr. Ray Lowe will remain the secretary. Glass, Lowe, McComas, Dave Berline, Dick Kerven and Larry Steele are currently serving two-year terms on the board.

Following a short business meeting, Dragon Head Coach Toby Shea commented on last week's victory over Kane and previewed this Saturday's opponent, Bradford.

Shea said the game with the Owls would, he thought, be the "toughest of the season." He added that Bradford "is as hard-hitting as any team we've faced."

The Boosters will meet again next Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the exhibition area at W&S to view films of the contest.

Quarry Injured Hand Saturday, May Delay Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A hand injury suffered by heavyweight Jerry Quarry may rule out a proposed Dec. 16 date for a meeting against San Francisco's Thad Spencer in the World Boxing Association's heavyweight tournament.

Quarry outpointed Floyd Patterson last Saturday afternoon to move into the tournament semifinals. X-rays of the Bellflower, Calif., fighter's swollen hand disclosed no broken bones.

The proposed Quarry-Spencer meeting has been in the discussion stage with no contracts signed. Dec. 30 was set as an alternate date. Reportedly, representatives of each fighter have expressed willingness for the bout to be arranged.

NEW YORK — Among the safest and most energetic staples of sports conversation has always been the impossible comparison. Could the Brown Bomber have whipped the Manassa Mauler? Would the Four Horsemen have trampled the Seven Blocks of Granite? Would the Yankee Clipper have had a chance batting against The Big Train? Happily, one could argue for hours without ever worrying about incontrovertible proof.

The world moves on. Last Monday night, Muhammad Ali scored a 15-round decision over Max Schmeling, according to a computer in Dayton, Ohio. Ali joined seven other heavyweight champions in the quarter finals of a mythical radio tournament that threatens to forever seal one of the few warm dark caves of friendly controversy left to us. Next Monday night Jack Dempsey, who punched-carried his way to victory over Jim Corbett, meets John L. Sullivan, the electronic conqueror of James Braddock.

The tournament was created by a Miami producer, Murray Woroner, who admits that the computer measures only "pure fighting ability." Woroner continues: "The computer can't take into consideration the three imponderables — luck, how a guy might feel on a given night and if someone is taking a dive."

The innocent NCR 315 computer was fed thousands of pieces of information, statistics, measurements and the subjective evaluation of 129 variables per fighter — speed, punching power, ability to withstand punishment. On that basis, the computer read-outs ostensibly offered a framework upon which a mythical fight could be constructed. In the Ali-Schmeling fight, for example, Ali's speed ultimately nullified Max's punching power. Max knocked the champion down in the seventh round, but by the 13th Ali had mounted "the greatest left jabbing exhibition ever seen, I'm sure," according to Guy LeBow, the blow-by-blow broadcaster.

The fights heard on about 370 stations, including New York's WHN, are slickly done, and as convincing as tapdancing on radio. Sponsors are assured 12 one-minute spots, and the presentation is spiced with quick interviews. Last week, Joe Louis picked Schmeling to win. A. J. Jack Sharkey said that Ali would remain champion until he died of old age unless "someone drops a bag of cement on his head."

In weeks to come Louis, who beat Jess Willard, meets Bob Fitzsimmons, who defeated Sharkey, and Max Baer, who upset Jack Johnson ("I thought something was wrong with the computer on that one," says Woroner) meets Rocky Marciano, who beat Gene Tunney in a "war." Ali, in the final quarter final match four weeks hence, meets Jim Jeffries, who beat Joe Walcott.

The apparent success of this series has Woroner talking about an all-time middleweight tournament and, eventually, an all-time college football tournament. It has also brought Woroner to national attention and elicited the whimsical thought by the Times of London that such computer technique might eventually replace armed combat. Nations would feed their military variables into the computer, accept the read-out and start ceasing land.

Having Woroner produce mythical wars might be all right, but mythical sporting events are rather monstrous. Pure ability has never been an omnipotent factor in sports, and the drama has always involved man's imposing his will upon circumstance, upon fear, upon disability. Necessarily, the computer must always be at least partially wrong when it reduces first a man, then the interaction between men, to absolute symbols. Add to this the programming — subjective evaluations made by men — and the monstrous becomes absurd.

"The real danger in computers," says a New York computer consultant, Allen B. Chertoff, "is the way they become a great shield for bureaucracy. They are used without recourse to dismiss employees and mark people as credit risks. They add to our feelings of individual powerlessness."

Meanwhile, this week's computer champion, Muhammad Ali, was not at all surprised at his victory over Schmeling. "I always told you I could beat them old-time fighters," he said today. "Even forgot to listen in."

76ers Rout Bullets On Big 2nd Quarter

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers scored 20 straight points in a four and one-half minute spree in the second quarter and went on to rout the Baltimore Bullets 136-111 last night in a National Basketball Association game at the Spectrum.

Philadelphia trailed 37-32, when Larry Costello started the surge with a 30-foot set shot. Costello scored eight points in the rally as the 76ers went up 52-37.

Baltimore rallied in the third period to twice slice the lead to seven points, once at the 5:03 mark on a layup by Jack Martin and at 4:16 on a field goal by Leroy Ellis, high for the Bullets with 26.

The 76ers, however, surged again, outscoring Baltimore 19-9 to the end of the third quarter for a 106-89 lead.

Hawks Rally For 101-96 Over Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — St. Louis held Cincinnati to only one field goal in 23 attempts in the third quarter to rally from a seven-point deficit and grab a 101-96 National Basketball Association victory last night.

Joe Caldwell bossed in eight third-quarter points to lead the Hawks' comeback that helped them extend their winning streak to three games.

The Hawks off to their hottest start in years now stand 10-1.

A combination of poor Royals' shooting and a hustling Hawk defense, prevented Cincinnati from registering a field goal in the first nine minutes and 10 seconds of the quarter.

St. Louis trailed 55-48 at the half after the Royals' Happy Hairston popped in seven straight field goals, but they rallied to take the lead at 64-63 on a free throw by Zelmo Beaty.

The Hawks were never headed after that but the Royals narrowed the margin to two points at 75-73.

Caldwell and Lennie Wilkens led the Hawks scorers with 24 points each. The Royals' top scorers were Jerry Lucas with 32 points and Hairston with 25.

The Maple Leafs, who beat the Canadiens for the Stanley Cup in the NHL playoffs last spring, broke the scoreless game wide open with three goals inside of five minutes midway through the second period. QB Meredith Will Return To Dallas Lineup Sunday

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Don Meredith returns to the Dallas Cowboys after missing three games with injuries, and Coach Tom Landry is hopeful this will signal a return of a missing offense, too.

"You don't know exactly what's wrong with the offense but since Meredith has been hampered by injuries all season, you assume that this is the reason," said Landry at his weekly press conference.

Anyway, Meredith has recovered fully from a rib injury and pneumonia and will be the starter Sunday when the Cowboys meet improving Atlanta in the Cotton Bowl.

The Cowboys lost their first game in four starts last Sunday as they fell to Philadelphia 21-14 and as a result had their lead in the Capitol Division of the National Football League cut to one game.

Landry observed that the Cowboys had one-half of the schedule yet to go and that it "is the toughest part."

He also said that if the Dallas offense didn't start jelling the Cowboys couldn't hope to equal last year's showing when they were Eastern Conference champions.

"But even if Meredith is the answer, it doesn't necessarily mean we'll do as well as last year," Landry observed. "I've never seen the NFL so tough. Right now there's only one team that can be considered a stand-out and that's Green Bay. There are terrific fights going on in all other divisions."

Landry said Atlanta, with Junior Coffey and Tom Moore running as well as any club in the league,

Atlanta won its first game of the season last week, beating Minnesota 21-20. Jan Van Duser, the Atlanta publicity chief, pointed out that it was the first full game for Randy Johnson, the former Texas A&I quarterback. Johnson also has been hampered by injuries. "It seems Atlanta and Dallas are somewhat alike—each needs its top quarterback," Van Duser commented. Landry disputed the assertion that Dallas was flat for its game with Philadelphia. "When a team can come back in the last half like the Cowboys did, it couldn't be flat," he asserted. Dallas was 21-0 behind when the second half started.

Pope's Doctors Discuss Surgical Dates

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ROME — The physicians of Pope Paul VI said last night that he would undergo surgery to correct a urinary tract infection "within the next few days."

A Vatican medical bulletin said the four doctors attending the 70-year-old Pontiff had examined him yesterday and found him ready to face surgery. The recurrence of fever that had interrupted his activities late Saturday had subsided, the bulletin said, and the chemical tests had confirmed the renewal of the Pope's good condition.

The operation, according to informed sources, will be for removal of the prostate gland, although medical bulletins issued since the first onset of the Pope's illness on Sept. 4 have spoken only of a urinary tract infection.

The four medical men inspected the recently modernized three-room surgical suite on the third floor of the Vatican palace and found it perfectly adequate by modern surgical standards, the bulletin said.

The four consultants are Prof. Mario Fontana, the Pope's personal physician; Prof. Pietro Valdini, one of Italy's leading surgeons; Prof. Piero Mazzoni, a leading anesthetist of Rome University Medical School, and Prof. Mario Arduini, a prominent urologist. Valdini is expected to perform the operation.

Earlier today, the Pope urged the faithful to "look upon the reality of our ultimate destinies."

Speaking upon the occasion of the Roman Catholic All Saints Day and in commemoration of the Feast Day of the Dead today, the Pope said the "modern mentality, entirely occupied with the fleeting scene of the moment, does not know and does not want to look upon" this reality.

The Pope's midday address to the crowd in St. Peter's from the window of his apartment was his first public appearance since a recurrence of fever from a kidney, bladder and urinary tract infection confined him to bed last Sunday. The Pope was first stricken on Sept. 4 while at the papal summer residence at Castelgandolfo, southwest of Rome.

In his brief speech yesterday the 70-year-old Pontiff made no reference to his health but expressed his thanks to all those "who are taking an interest in it." His voice was slightly weaker than usual but his gestures were firm and sure.

The procedure in such illnesses as the Pope's is to treat the infection with antibiotics or other drugs to bring the condition within normal limits before the operation, an Italian doctor said.

This takes several days, possibly 10 or 12, depending upon the acuteness of the infection and upon the general condition of the patient, the doctor added.

The Pope's most recent fever started last Saturday night after many weeks of strenuous activity. His relapse prevented him from taking part in a canonization rite and the ceremonial closing of the Synod of Bishops.

Article Criticizes Red China

By PETE O'LOUGHLIN
Associated Press Writer
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—An official Soviet publication, for the second time in recent months, strongly criticized Communist China yesterday as having ambitions to take over neighboring countries in Southeast Asia.

The criticism came in an article in a weekly newsletter released by the Soviet Embassy in Bangkok. It was signed by Prof. M. Utkintsev, described by an embassy spokesman as a top Soviet expert on China.

The article said any visitor to Southeast Asia would become aware of a "feeling of anxiety" over the policies of Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

The publication of the article suggested that the Russians, as well as Americans, are highly suspicious of Chinese territorial designs in Asia.

"This anxiety grows as the hegemonic aims of Mao and his group develop and their territorial aims in Southeast Asia become more apparent," the article said.

Missing Thousand

The long-missing $1,000 which has plagued Erie City police department since its disappearance from the police department safe, will be paid back to St. John's Church, Mayor Louis J. Tullio, said yesterday that Lt. Donald Gunter, the officer in charge of the safe when the money was removed and never found, has agreed to restore the funds pending satisfactory completion of an investigation. Tullio apparently thought that since Gunter was the last man to have officially handled the money as safe custodian, this put the responsibility on his shoulders.

Army Cancels National Rifle, Pistol Matches

By JOHN W. FINNEY

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The Department of the Army yesterday announced the cancellation of next year's National Rifle and Pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, ostensibly for economy reasons.

The move, however, appeared to be directed at the National Rifle Association of America and other elements of the gun lobby that has consistently prevented the administration from achieving passage of gun control legislation.

A Pentagon announcement said Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor had decided to cancel the matches as "part of the department of defense effort to reduce expenditures and limit spending to only the most essential programs."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the leading senatorial proponent of a gun control law, immediately praised the decision as "a victory for reason and good government and a vivid demonstration that the interests of all the people can prevail despite the well-financed shouting of special interest lobbies."

Kennedy did not say exactly what he meant by "special interest lobbies," but the brunt of his attacks in the past have been aimed at the rifle association and his words yesterday appeared to be pointed in the same direction.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., another advocate of gun control legislation also praised the cancellation of the matches.

He said in a statement that the matches have "repeatedly been used by the gun industry to advertise its wares, and by the opponents of effective firearms laws to proselytize shooters with propaganda in the form of literature and posters to oppose firearms legislation."

Although the rifle association's immediate reaction to the Pentagon decision was restrained, the preservation of the matches has become a highly emotional issue for gun enthusiasts and the cancellation was considered certain to arouse strong protest in coming weeks.

Franklin L. Orth, the N.R.A.'s executive vice president, said the organization "recognizes that the crisis in Vietnam is imposing a severe burden on the national economy and military manpower requirements" and that if the cancellation "is a real necessity, then we go along enthusiastically."

Orth added that the Pentagon decision was "a considerable blow" to the association's program.

The N.R.A. announced yesterday that it would hold its own matches "on a reduced basis" next year.

The national matches have been held each year since 1903 with 10 exceptions during wartime and in the depression. The majority of them have taken place at Camp Perry.

Army officials said the five-week event in 1966, the last year for which precise figures are available, cost the government $2.8 million for ammunition, materiel and salaries for the Army and active reserve troops who provided house-keeping services and acted as scorekeepers and target pullers.

This year's matches in late July and August, estimated to have cost approximately the same amount, were attended by about 6,500 contestants, of whom 1,675 were members of the armed services representing military rifle and pistol teams.

Jamestown Mayor Makes Prediction About 'UR'

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Mayor Fred H. Dunn predicted yesterday an application seeking federal funds for a survey and planning of Jamestown's second urban renewal project will be filed within the next six weeks. The prediction by the mayor came as part of a statement announcing the completion of a study of the central business district by the Philadelphia planning firm of Kendree and Shepard.

The study is a preliminary to any application to outline a project area in the downtown district for urban renewal.

The proposal submitted by Kendree and Shepard include blocking off portions of Cherry, Lafayette, and Pine streets between second and Fourth streets for the creation of downtown super-blocks and miniature homes. Covered sidewalks are also called for in the Mall areas together with the planting of trees and shrubs in the shopping district.

Mayor Dunn emphasized the boundaries mentioned by the planning consultants will not necessarily be those in the final urban renewal project. Some changes could occur when the city planning commission and the city urban renewal agency make a detailed study of the proposals. The Democratic Mayor said he is hopeful a decision on the boundaries for the project will be reached in about two weeks. If completed a

Prices Paid Farmers Down

HARRISBURG (AP) — Prices paid to Pennsylvania farmers for their products in October were at the lowest level in two years, the State Crop Reporting Service said yesterday.

October prices were 2 percent below that of a year ago, the service said.

Much of the decline can be attributed to decreases in livestock and grain prices, the service said, citing these examples:

Wheat, down 34 cents a bushel to $1.27; corn, down 11 cents to $1.27; a bushel; alfalfa, down $1 a ton; slaughter cows, down 80 cents to $16.50 a hundredweight; and hogs, down 70 cents.

Two Titusville Nurses Killed in Crash

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A car carrying six practical nurses collided with another auto last night, killing two nurses and injuring six other persons.

Killed were Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, 74, and Mrs. Edith Anderson, 67, both of Titusville. Police said the nurses' car, operated by Mrs. Anderson, pulled from a restaurant driveway into the path of the second car on rain-swept Pennsylvania 322 four miles west of Meadville.

Love-In Dispersed

Some 400 Erie teenagers attending the city's first "love-in" had to go somewhere else Tuesday night when police dispersed them from the "Hillions of Grandeur," a hippie haven on 10th street. Police took the action because the crowded place was deemed a fire hazard. Lt. Mario Bagnoni noted the teenagers otherwise were doing no harm.

Pennsylvania, were returning to their quarters at Meadville. Another nurse, Mrs. Eileen Field, 65, of Titusville was admitted to Meadville City Hospital in satisfactory condition with a leg injury.

Treated and released were three other nurses, Mrs. Florentina Dillemath, 57, of Pleasantville; Mrs. Irene Coval, 62, and Mrs. Dorothy C. Schneider, 56, both of Titusville.

The driver of the other car, Doyle Taylor of Route 1 Mead-

"We're swamped with letters complaining about violence on television! ... They want us to drop all our news broadcasts!"

Commissioner Mead Breaks Campaign Silence With Letter

Republican Blain M. Mead, only incumbent County Commissioner to survive the May primary, broke his silence in the current campaign with an "open letter" to the voters of Warren County today.

While noting that an alleged campaign fund of $12,400 has been raised to defeat him, the Republican nominee added that despite Dr. David K. Rice's involvement in this write-in campaign for a Tidoute man, he would still "consider it an honor and privilege to work with David Rice," if the Conewango township veterinarian is elected on November 7.

Mead also explained why he did not attend a debate arranged for Dr. Rice and the Tidoute write-in candidate held last week.

The text of Mr. Mead's letter to the voters follows: "The Republicans of Warren County nominated me for County Commissioner in the Primary election last May.

"Under the American political tradition of fair play and good sportsmanship, losing candidates congratulate the winners of a primary then close ranks and concentrate on defeating the opposition party in the November election.

"Because any other course splits a party, it is regrettable that a handful of backers of losing candidates formed a committee, not to pursue the American way, but to raise $12,400 to finance an advertising campaign to defeat me in November.

"This is the largest campaign fund ever raised in Warren County for the election of a single candidate running in a local, state or national election. The bulk of the fund was contributed by very few men.

"Why should so few give so much to elect one of three commissioners?"

"The same committee has continued to show its lack of fair play and good sportsmanship by recently suggesting I debate the issues—not against me, but against two adversaries, under a moderator of their choice.

"I do not hesitate to discuss the issues at any time, but I refuse to play against a stacked deck of cards.

"I shall continue to carry on a reasonable and dignified campaign. If elected I do not need to show favoritism to any man. I cannot be bought and I would not accept an excessive campaign fund if it were made available to me.

"I told many voters before the May election that I would consider it an honor and a privilege to work with Dave Rice. My opinion in this matter has not changed."

Area Juvenile Admits Shooting

Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty Tuesday night arrested a 15-year-old juvenile accused of shooting a hole in a water tank in Clarendon sometime between Oct. 6 and Oct. 13.

The youth, Hegerty said, admitted the incident and stated he used a .22 calibre rifle to shoot the hole in the tank used for fire protection in Clarendon.

About two-thirds of the water supply was lost, police said. The juvenile was released in custody of his parents and will be referred to juvenile authorities.

BISHOP JOHN F. WHEALON

Erie Bishop to Address Warren County Ministers

The Most Reverend John F. Whealon, Roman Catholic Bishop of Erie, Pennsylvania Diocese, will be principal speaker at the November 9 meeting of the Warren County Ministerial Association at Salem EUB Church.

The Bishop has been requested to talk on Vatican Council II and plans to present his personal views along with color slides. This will be followed by a question and answer period.

Bishop John Whealon was appointed the sixth Bishop of Erie on Dec. 14, 1966 and was installed as successor to Archbishop John Mark Gannon on March 7, 1967. His motto is "Vox Chamontis in Deserto," words of his patron saint, St. John the Baptist, which translated says "A Voice crying out in the wilderness." He came to Erie Diocese from Cleveland where he served as an Auxiliary Bishop for over five years.

In the short span of less than a year as head of the Catholics of his Diocese, he has been untiring in his efforts through travel and speeches to warmly meet and earnestly work with all people and communities.

Prior to the luncheon program, business session will be held at 11 a.m. with President Walter Olson of Calvary Baptist Church presiding. The program is being provided by the Rev. John T. Carter of St. Clara's Catholic Church of Sheffield and Clarendon.

Warren county ministers attending the meeting should call the host pastor, the Rev. Lynn Bergman of Salem EUB Church.

Shafer Says He's Taking Steps to Insure Economy

BY JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said yesterday his administration was taking steps to insure that Pennsylvania's economy would not suffer in the event of a sudden halt in the Vietnam War and a resultant reduction in defense spending.

Shafer told a specially called news conference that he was encouraged by a report indicating that Pennsylvania was not "overextended in defense work."

"Pennsylvania ranks fourth in defense generated employment," Shafer said. "Only 5.4 per cent of the Pennsylvania work force depends on defense spending for jobs. In California, which ranks first, a total of 17 per cent of the workers are dependent on defense employment."

The report was prepared by a three-member subcommittee of the Governor's Economic Advisory Council, which Shafer organized shortly after his election in November.

Two subcommittee members, Dr. Roy E. Moor, vice president and economist of the Fidelity Bank, Philadelphia, and Henry Tunney, vice president and controller of Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, were present at the news conference. Absent was Dr. Albert G. Matamoros, chief economist of the Armstrong Cork Co.

The report strongly indicated that Pennsylvania's economy would not be greatly affected if the Vietnam War should end suddenly. It said a sudden and substantial cut in federal spending in any major labor market area was unlikely.

However, the governor said his administration would use the information in the report to prepare the state's economy for an orderly transition from wartime to peacetime spending.

Specifically, the governor said he would:

—Direct the secretary of commerce to contact defense oriented industries to determine what plans they have for shifting to civilian production.

—Transfer the Governor's Manpower Development Task Force to the Governor's Office, and direct it to contact industry and employ groups about what can be done to convert defense-oriented workers to a peacetime work force.

—Assign the secretary of community affairs the job of contacting communities with heavy defense industries to assist them in setting up programs to avert economic disaster in the event of a sudden change.

The governor said he could not give specific figures on how many workers might be thrown out of jobs by a halt in the Vietnam war.

However, he said there were approximately a quarter million workers employed by defense-oriented industries in Pennsylvania. The report further showed that one defense job usually generated one to two nondefense jobs.

In fiscal 1966, Pennsylvania was awarded $1.7 billion in federal defense contracts, 5.3 per cent of the national total. Although 400 communities were awarded contracts, the study showed that Philadelphia consistently gets about 60 per cent of the prime contracts.

List $100 Damage

Property damage to a car was listed at $100 following a traffic mishap at 8:10 a. m. yesterday on Route 6 one quarter mile from Warren.

State police trooper Daniel Portzer reported that a cable spool fell from the trailer of a tractor rig operated by William Makarevich, 2415 Gilmore st., New Castle, Pa., and struck the left rear of a car driven by Albert P. Salerno, 1407 Hall st.

$35,013 in Bids Approved For Rouse Improvements

Bids were approved by the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate for proposed renovation of the ladies' annex at the Rouse Home in Youngsville. The combined total was $35,013, according to Administrator Kenneth Greenland with contracts to be awarded following consultation with some of the bidding firms. Companies receiving contracts will be announced at a meeting next week.

The Rouse commissioners also voted to hire James Saines, of the Warren State Hospital staff, as a part-time recreation therapist at the county home. Saines will probably devote some evenings and his days-off from WSH to direct a program which could be handled with the help of volunteers. This month he is to prepare a program to be presented to the commissioners for approval. The therapy program, highly advocated by the state government, has proved successful in other homes.

The new addition to the Rouse Home has an area specially designed for this type of program with a myriad number of therapeutic recreation ideas possible for elderly guests.

In the ladies' annex, work will center on bathroom, plumbing, tiling, electrical installation and general refurbishing. The annex will be used as a home for ambulatory guests upon its completion.

Robbery Charges Filed In Grand Valley Incident

State police Trooper Harry W. Jabo of the Warren substation filed a charge of robbery by assault and force Tuesday against a man accused of being involved in an August 5 incident in which an elderly RD 1, Grand Valley man was injured and robbed.

The charge was filed before Peace Justice Raymond Gilmore after Oval Carney Short, RD 2, Titusville; RD 2 Lisbon, Ohio and Cleveland, Ohio gave himself up shortly after 5 p.m. at the office of Sheriff D.E. Allen.

District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita filed a fugitive from justice warrant for Short for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

A companion, Jerry Gillespie, also charged with robbery by assault and force, faced a criminal jury trial this month and was found guilty on a lesser charge, assault and battery before and after the fact.

Testimony at the jury trial revealed that a gold-filled pocket watch, $30 cash, two pounds of minced ham and two gallons of ice cream had been taken from the property of John Elmer Beach, 67, RD 1, Grand Valley after he was pushed from a bench outside his home, jumped on and dragged into the house.

Short was remanded to county jail in lieu of $500 cash or $1,000 property bond, police stated.

Catholic Youth Program
Attended By 100 Sunday

Approximately one hundred teenagers of Warren County attended the Catholic Youth dinner on Sunday which followed a Folk Mass at St. Joseph Church. Sister Zita, O.S.B., accompanied the Mass on her guitar.

The dinner, served in the St. Joseph School hall, was served immediately afterwards and entertainment was offered by Sister Romayne, O.S.B., on her banjo; Sister Zita on the guitar; and, Sister Leonard, O.S.B., on the maracas. At the conclusion of the musical portion of the program, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anthony of Erie gave the principal addresses of the evening.

Attorney Anthony told of the triumph of a Jewish doctor, who, after four years in a German concentration camp in World War II and losing everything that was dear to him, concluded that he had nothing to fear except God, and is now a leading European psychiatrist whose therapy is based on the premise: Man must have meaning in life to survive.

As Christians, Mr. Anthony went on to say, we are taught how to live and love with a purpose. Christ expects us to do His work — + + Each one is unique and important to God and the world.

Mrs. Anthony spoke of the love of fellow man; the work of the lay apostolate as a link between the church and the world. She said that instead of "demonstrating", positive action should be taken to help solve the problems of society which are many. Mrs. Anthony went on, "Today we must become apostles or tomorrow we will become apostates." And she elaborated "It is false to love Christ in heaven, whom we can't see, if we cannot love the Christ in others, whom we can see."

Cynthia H. Dunham Becomes
Bride Of Charles F. Bigelow

Cynthia H. Dunham became the bride of Charles F. Bigelow on Wednesday, November 1, at a 7 p. m. double ring nuptial service in Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church. The Rev. Richard Baker, assisted by the Rev. John McDonald of St. James Episcopal Church in Titusville, officiated. White chrysanthemums ornamented the altar for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dunham, 212 Conewango ave., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Bigelow, 511 Prospect st.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white crystal peau gown in an A-line silhouette. Re-embroidered Alencon lace etched with seed pearls was applied around the bateau neckline and formed the cuff on the long fitted sleeves. The floor length skirt was designed with gathered back and formed a brush train. Her chapel length mantilla was edged with scalloped lace and applied with scattered lace medallions. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums on a small white Bible.

Mrs. Phil Jewell of Erie was the matron of honor and Miss Charlotte Bigelow, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid. Both were dressed in gold jacharta floor length gowns with long sleeves. They wore matching gold Dior bow headpieces with butterfly veils and carried gold and bronze chrysanthemum cascades.

Best man was William Odell and ushers for the ceremony were Robert Dunham Jr., brother of the bride and Creed Erickson Jr., cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a beige brocade ensemble with green accessories and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids. The mother of the groom wore a turquoise and gold brocade with a corsage of beige cymbidium orchids. Mrs. L.E. Dunham, Mrs. C.O. Munch, and Mrs. John Wolstencraft, grandmothers of the couple, were presented white pompon corsages.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Creed Erickson. Aides were Mrs. Margaret Wright, Mrs. W. Evans Johnson, and Miss Pat Waples. For traveling, the bride wore an orange and gold tweed suit. Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Richard Calver, Mrs.

Nelson Johnson, Mrs. Roger Mauchline, Mrs. Creed Erickson, and Miss Ursula Johnson. Rehearsal dinner was given at the Blue Manor Restaurant by Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Bigelow. Out of town guests travelled from Georgia, Maryland, New Jersey, Florida, Lakewood and Jamestown, N. Y., and OLCity.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you published some letters from women who complained because their husbands were too busy with bowling or golf or just watching sports on TV. You told them they should be thankful the guys weren't out chasing girls.

I live in the Southwest where rodeos and roping are popular. My husband is a roping nut. He would rather rope than eat, and I mean that literally. He hasn't had a meal with his family in three months.

I am an avid Landers' fan, however, and learned from you that it is stupid and useless to nag. So I kept my mouth shut and quietly found a hobby of my own.

My hobby is "I!" and he thinks I'm wonderful. I'm not lonely anymore; in fact, I encourage my husband to go roping, and of course he is delighted.

I am not trying to whitewash what I am doing, Ann. I just hope you print this so some of those nuts out there in newspaperland will ask themselves, "Was it my wife who wrote that letter?" — TEXAS OR ARIZONA OR OKLAHOMA CONTENTMENT

DEAR CON: Of course I know in which of the three states you live, but I'm not tipping my mit. Let's let 'em guess — all you roping nuts in Texas, Arizona and Florida. + + +

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a complaint. It concerns these very small cars. (I call them non-cars.) Every time I think I have a parking space in a lot I discover that a small car is already parked there. Someone should design a gadget that sticks up high so people can see the space is taken. Also, it would help bewildered drivers to locate their non-cars in a parking lot. Thank you, — IRKED

DEAR IRKED: A great idea! I hope some cookie invents it. A pole-like affair, similar to a radio aerial might be appropriate — something with a collapsible flag on the end. (Don't bother about sending Irked and me the royalties, boys, just go ahead and produce it!) + + +

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the 21-year-old mother of a new baby. She was born nine months and eight days after we were married.

My husband was transferred to this city six months ago when I was a pregnant newby. I didn't know anyone here and the first people to call on me were the wives of the men my husband worked with.

This afternoon one of the wives came over with a gift for the baby. She hadn't been in the house 10 minutes when she asked, "Your baby was born very soon after your marriage. Was it planned? Tell me what happened."

I was embarrassed and shocked and started to stumble around explaining that we wanted a family but not so soon and that I became pregnant on the honeymoon.

After she left I was furious with myself. She had a lot of nerve to ask such a question and I was stupid to have answered. But how does one get off the spot? What should I have said? — D.D.D.

DEAR D.D.D.: When a person asks a question about something that is none of his business the correct procedure is as follows: Say: "Will you repeat that?" After the question is repeated say, "I didn't think I heard correctly. It seemed inconceivable that you would ask such an intimate question. I wouldn't dream of discussing such a thing with you. Now, what else shall we talk about?" + + +

William Porter Speaker For Woman's Club Drama Meeting

On Monday the Drama Department of the Woman's Club will have as its speaker William (Bill) Porter. Mr. Porter is well known to local audiences for his performances with Warren Players Club. His program will include reminiscences of the amateur stage in England and Canada and excerpts from roles he has played.

Mr. Porter's introduction to acting was in 1948 as an evening student at The Civic Playhouse, Bradford, England. His first stage appearance was with Shipley Young Theatre, a group of Civic Playhouse students. After playing in several classics with Shipley Young Theatre, he graduated to the Civic Playhouse stage and played a large variety of modern and classical roles during the following few years. After emigration to Canada in 1956, he resumed stage activities with Welland Little Theatre, while working at Atlas Steels Limited. Association with the Welland group involved annual participation in the Dominion Drama Festival, which gained him an award as Best Supporting Actor, in the 1958 Western Ontario finals, and the All-Canada Bessborough Trophy for direction of the best classical entry of 1961.

Since 1961, Mr. Porter has been employed by the National Forge Company and has appeared with Warren Players Club in Finian's Rainbow, The Music Man, The Country Girl, Thieves Carnival, My Fair Lady, How to Succeed in Business and The Merry Wives of Windsor. He directed All My Sons, Thieves Carnival, and The Merry Wives of Windsor.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of pumpkin pie and cream were served.

The next meeting of Diamond Grange will be held on Monday, November 6, instead of Tuesday because of Election Day use of the hall. A twelve dinner will precede the Monday evening meeting. It will be served at 6:30.

A number of Warren County State Grange members had a get-together dinner on Route 453 on their way home from State Grange at Gettysburg last week end. The 1968 session will be held at Butler, Penna.

Heloise Hints

DEAR HELOISE:

After washing stretch slacks for the first time, have you ever dimly discovered the legs too tight and the seat looking as though you'd been poured into it?

Well, if this happens, wash the slacks again as usual. Instead of plopping them into the dryer or just hanging them up to dry, get a pair of boys' pants stretchers and adjust them to "narrow" at the bottom and move the top of the stretchers until they are medium. Then push them into the legs of the slacks and hang 'em up to dry.

The beauty of this is that if your legs and thighs are on the heavy side, you can adjust the stretcher either way and you'll get a perfect fit and crease every time.

The bidding:
West North East South
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♦ 1 ♣
Dble. Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♣

An enterprising double of a low level contract by West paid off a handsome reward, when an alert defense extracted the last ounce of punishment from the helpless declarer.

West opened the bidding with one club, holding 20 points, he is a bit too strong for one no trump. East dutifully responded with one diamond and South made an overcall of one heart, which can hardly produce any objection.

In the absence of his opponent's intervention, West intended to rebid two no trump inviting his partner to carry on to game. South's overcall, however, offered an alternative choice. West reasoned that he could take book against one heart in his own hand. If East held enough to produce a game, then the partnership should be able to extract sufficient compensation from a penalty double of the overcall. If a game was not in the offing, then the penalty might still yield a satisfactory profit. West accordingly doubled one heart and all hands passed.

West opened the king of clubs. He switched to the king of spades and was permitted to hold the second trick, however, on the continuation — East's nine, dislodged declarer's ace.

South returned the king of hearts and West was in again with the ace. He led the queen of diamonds on which East signaled with the ten and declarer ducked. West cashed the ace of clubs next and then switched back to the jack of diamonds. East overtook with the king and South played the ace.

Declarer continued to draw trump by leading the jack of hearts. West put up the queen and returned his last diamond to South's one heart overcall. What made the profit especially significant was that East and West could not have scored a game on the deal — their maximum result offensively would have been 10 tricks at a club contract or eight tricks in no trump.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — No excuses but your wonderful ability to the task of making things pay and those things will pay. You are a good provider and a bright guest or host (hostess).

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — With so many items to attend to, you may be given to dallying, "merely putting off awhile," which is only going to overload you in the long run. Look at the many successful people already in Taurus!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Substantial business, guarding savings, preventing failures and avoiding unwise departures occupy now. How is your positive thinking? There is more upward power than you think.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Risk neither job nor finances (nor anything) for a "new" idea or suggestion that may not hold water. Aspire to the greater heights to which Cancer belongs, and where you can do so nicely.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — You love a good story and a good life, and you may be hurt that someone is not, so you think, helping you get the latter. Just keep at it, and have faith, friend. Develop your hidden powers the while.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — You are more the grand-host type than the diamond-in-the-rough person. Seldom (no matter your original background) do you not learn to speak clearly and properly. You are neat and want the same in others.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — You can make a lot more interesting things than money in your lifetime, though you can make your share of that, too. Follow rules you instinctively know are best, and add others best FOR YOU.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23) — This may be your very first try at whatever you may need another try, but the real you will want to do ably NOW, not the next time. "Ordinary" is not sufficient for you.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Ask a few questions before you begin, but don't be late at anything. Youngsters and oldsters enjoy your company, but you may have to allot time sparingly today to finish on time.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Here is a better-than-average day with which to work; you should relish it. Make a fortune in good sense rather than in monetary values that are so temporary. How are you applying lessons learned?

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — You do not take enough advantage of offerings, and this goes for products, reactions, friends. But you are, fortunately, always a friend in need. Do the great good you can with the power furnished you.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Be it small or large, a chore is a chore, an obligation an obligation, and you recognize this. Consider the advisability of a new approach, a "different" look or twist to add to the sales appeal of anything.

YOU BORN TODAY: Often brilliant tactics and handy maneuverability characterize this individual of the Scorpio Sign. There are two main types of Scorpio natives, the well-developed and high-minded and the mercenary, devious type, which can undermine a good plan or idea. Seldom does the latter flourish among the better of you, because you are too busy learning and seeking the true assets of people and the world. Your enthusiasm is instant. Your gargantuan memory carries a myriad of facts and solutions. Just simmer down now and then to sort out the musts from the nonentities, and for your health.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

SELF-INFLICTED WOUNDS

Some people mutilate themselves to get what they want. An elderly Lancaster (England) woman with varicose veins developed a band of ulcers on the lower part of the left limb. When the physician asked if an elastic band had been put around the leg she resented the question and changed the subject.

She was subsequently admitted to the hospital because the ulcers failed to improve. As the swelling subsided, a tiny depression in the skin encircling the leg was noted in the healed area. X-rays of the limb revealed a peculiar indentation of the bone that coincided with the groove in the skin.

According to the British Medical Journal, the woman protested that an encircling band could not possibly be present. Finally she consented to an operation. When the leg was opened and some of the thickened bone was chiseled away, an elastic band was found. After it was divided and removed, recovery was complete.

Ten days after leaving the hospital she returned with an ulcer on the leg due to a phenol burn. Shortly thereafter she hid a light elastic band under the ring of her finger. Why? The woman was mentally disturbed but her physician finally discovered that she preferred ulcers to boarding summer visitors, whom she resented.

The same British physicians reported their experiences with a 51-year-old man with an ulcer that almost encircled the lower third of his right leg. In this case, the band had not eroded the bone. It was removed when a loop of rubber appeared in the ulcer. A week later he returned with another band which was removed. This man was lonely and enjoyed the attention he received from the hospital staff.

Self-inflicted wounds are noted occasionally in victims hoping to gain something. They deny any knowledge of the origin of the lesion and cannot be tricked into admitting the truth even when confronted with the evidence.

TOMORROW: Poor Diet in Elderly.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

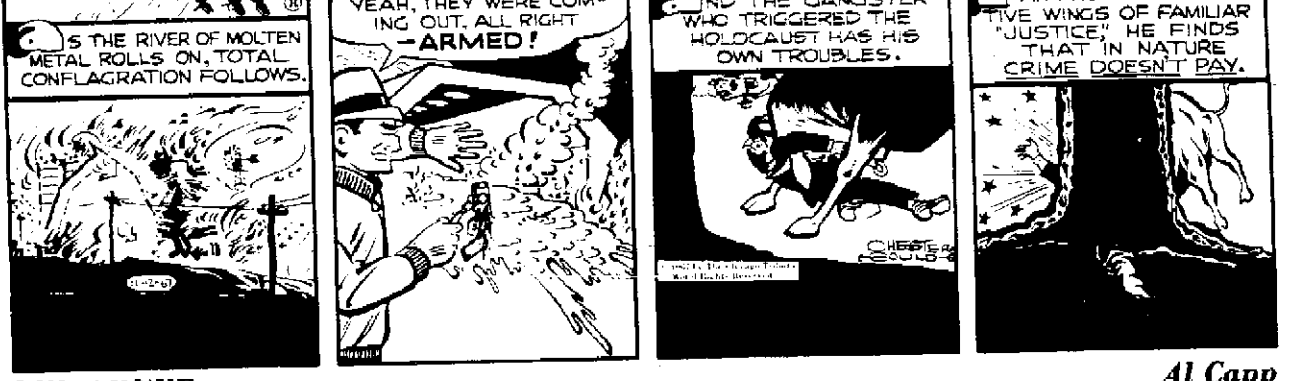

POTENTIAL ARTHRITIC

L. J. W. writes: Is there any way to tell whether you are a candidate for arthritis later in life?

REPLY

No. Heredity plays a role in some types of arthritis such as Heberden's nodes on the fingers. Almost every elderly person acquires osteoarthritis of the spine, hips, or knees which may or may not prove bothersome.

Questions and Answers on Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—Where can I get the forms I need to report tip income?
A—Your employer should have copies of Form 4070. If he does not have them you can obtain copies from any IRS office.
Q—Do you have anything that explains what a taxpayer can do if he disagrees with the agent auditing his return?
A—Yes. An explanation of the audit procedure and the taxpayer's rights of appeal are contained in IRS Document No. 5202. Copies are available at IRS offices at no cost.

Q—I made a mistake on my 1040 and filed an amended return sometime ago. What's holding up the refund I claimed?

A—It usually takes longer to process amended returns. The original return has to be compared with the amended return before processing can be completed.

Q—If I take a job overseas will I have to pay both U.S. and foreign taxes?

A—It depends on where you work and the circumstances of your employment. The U.S. has agreements with many countries to ease the problem of double taxation. In many cases a U.S. citizen may also be able to take a credit or a deduction on his income tax return for the foreign income taxes he pays. Under certain conditions all or part of the income earned abroad may be exempt from Federal taxation.

You can get a free copy of Publication No. 54, "Tax Guide for U.S. Citizens Abroad" at any IRS office.

Q—My daughter has a small scholarship which covers part of her tuition costs. Will that have to be counted as taxable income for her? If not, will I have to pay tax on it since she is my dependent?

A—Most scholarships are not taxable. If your daughter's scholarship happens to be taxable, however, it will be counted as her income not yours. A taxpayer is not liable for tax on income earned by his dependent. To find out whether your daughter's scholarship is taxable or not, check with the person or organization granting it. Information on the tax status of scholarships is contained in Document No. 5045, "What is Income?" You can get a free copy at any IRS office.

York Minster Is Falling Down

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

YORK, England (AP)—York Minster, England's largest Gothic building, is going to need all the skills of 20th Century technology to save it.

Experts say that unless something is done, the great medieval cathedral will probably be past saving in 15 years time and might become dangerous for people to enter long before that.

"The piers of the central tower are carrying enormous weights and if one leaves it too late nothing could hold them up," warns Bernard Feilden, 47-year-old cathedral architect. "It seems that the building has been affected in a series of jerks over the years, and that there has been rather a big jerk quite recently."

With work already under way and parts of the cathedral still in use, Feilden has installed his own early warning system. Tell-tale strips of glass have been cemented over identified cracks and these are inspected daily. The glass breaks when a crack widens, though the movement may be invisible to the naked eye. Already five of the glass strips have fractured.

A more refined type of strain gauge is now being installed, which gives an exact reading of the amount of movement.

York Minster is Britain's biggest medieval cathedral and attracts a million visitors a year. It is the metropolitan church of York, the northern province of the Church of England.

With repair work already under way, services are restricted to the cathedral nave. A great excavation is roped off under the square central tower, which forms the very heart of the building. There workmen dig eight feet below the floor among foundation stones laid in Saxon times.

Occasionally they find skulls and bones, the relics of medieval burials.

But they are going deeper yet to reach the earliest Roman masonry, believed to be four feet lower.

The people of York walk over a bridge of boards to reach their seats for services. The great organ, now played from a remote console, is muffled under layers of plywood and polythene casing to protect it from the dust the workmen raise.

There are cracks at all levels in the tower. You can see distortion in the walls and arches of the transepts, caused by its lateral movement.

The great size of the structure and its loads present the experts with special problems. The weight of the central tower is estimated to be nearly one-third of that of the whole building and the load on its foundations, allowing for wind pressures, is calculated at 25,000 tons—about the weight of an ocean liner.

All this rests on four main piers, on foundations originally sunk into waterlogged ground. But York's water table has dropped by four feet in the past century or so and it is still sinking. This, the architects think, is main cause of the trouble.

Other causes of weakness are ascribed to passing traffic and defects in the stonework itself.

Now there's a new worry. Bangs from supersonic aircraft.

The Very Rev. Alan Richardson, dean of York, recently sought and won an assurance from the authorities that no experimental bangs would be made over the York area.

Meanwhile more than half of the two million pounds ($5,600,000) initially needed for a seven-year repair program on the Minster has been subscribed.

"We have had many spontaneous gifts from Americans who have been here," said F. H. Berry, director of the appeal campaign. "But for the tax reduction problem, there might have been more."

"We'll have nothing to show for our two million except that the Minster is still standing," Berry said. "In fact, the less it shows, the better the job has been done."

The measures envisaged include the placing of a reinforced concrete ring beam round the top of the central tower and a girdle of stainless steel wire at roof level to restrain any outward movement.

The piers, already strapped to prevent any immediate danger to the public, will be grouted (the cracks filled) and strengthened by stainless steel.

Only then can new foundations be inserted by drilling piles down 55 feet at an angle through existing masonry to a level where there is solid ground. Concrete and stainless steel will link the piles with the existing stone foundations.

A cathedral church stood on the site of York Minster about six centuries before Archbishop de Gray began the present building in 1220.

AT YORK MINSTER

Bernard Feilden, cathedral architect, examines his early warning system at York Minster, England's largest Gothic building, which dates from 1220. A small piece of glass is cemented over a crack in the cathedral. If the crack widens, the glass splinters, thus disclosing a danger perhaps not visible to the naked eye.

Complaint Asks $2,000 From Man Who Killed Dog

TITUSVILLE — A complaint in trespass, asking for over $2,000 in damages, has been filed against a Titusville resident accused of killing his neighbor's dog with a bow and arrow.

The complaint has been filed against Donald VanDyke. The German shepherd dog was owned by Mr. and Mrs. James J. Fink who live nearby.

It is expected the case will be heard during a court term beginning in January.

The incident in question took place Sept. 27. The Finks said they left the dog on an enclosed back porch when they went to work that morning but in some way the two-year-old dog managed to get out.

That morning a neighbor saw the dog staggering across the street, stumbling and then getting up. It finally reached the neighbor's yard where it collapsed.

When the Finks arrived they took the dog to an out-of-town veterinarian when the local vet could not be contacted. The doctor found the dog had been shot with a steel-tipped, four blade hunting arrow which had penetrated to within an inch of the animal's heart. The dog was operated on but died that night.

Neighbors reported VanDyke as saying the dog would not let him enter his house.

Costly Commotion

NEW YORK—The stormy civil upheavals in Detroit during July, 1967, resulted in about $85 million in insured losses, according to the Insurance Information Institute. This was more than twice the cost of the riots in the Watts area of Los Angeles in August, 1965.

The bones harden earlier in girls than in boys.
